Frameworks, frameworks, ...

Do I even need a framework??

JavaScript Frameworks & Libraries: Timeline

Trends: Interest over time

2005 - 2007

2007 - 2012

2004 - 2012

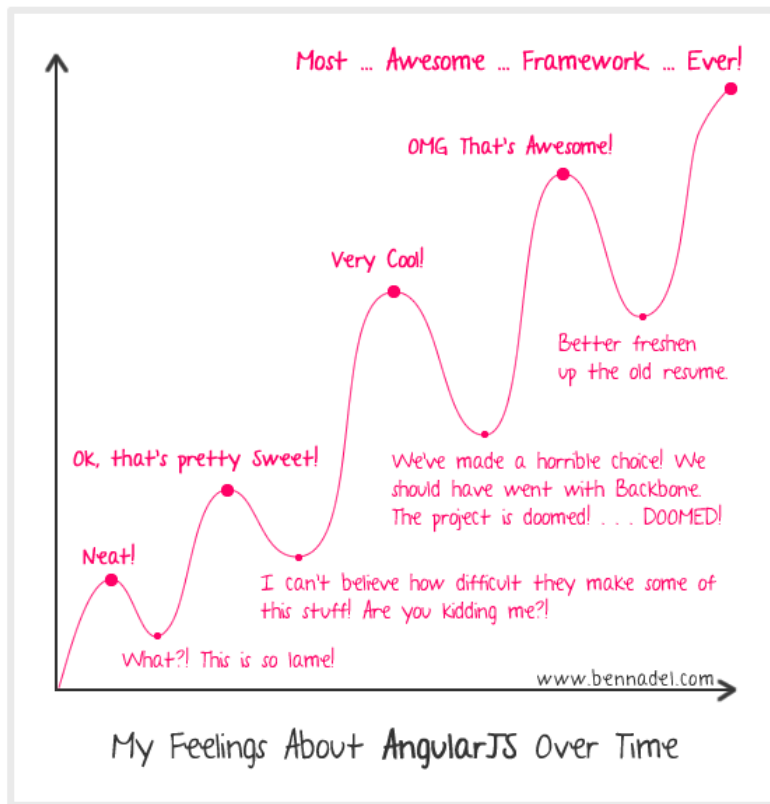

Your Considerations

- New project or expanding existing project?
- Your project size (small, medium, large)?
- Do you have existing build system?
- Do you have existing frameworks?
- Your teams skill sets?
- Your requirements?

Hybrid frameworks

PhoneGap/Cordova

Xamarin Mono

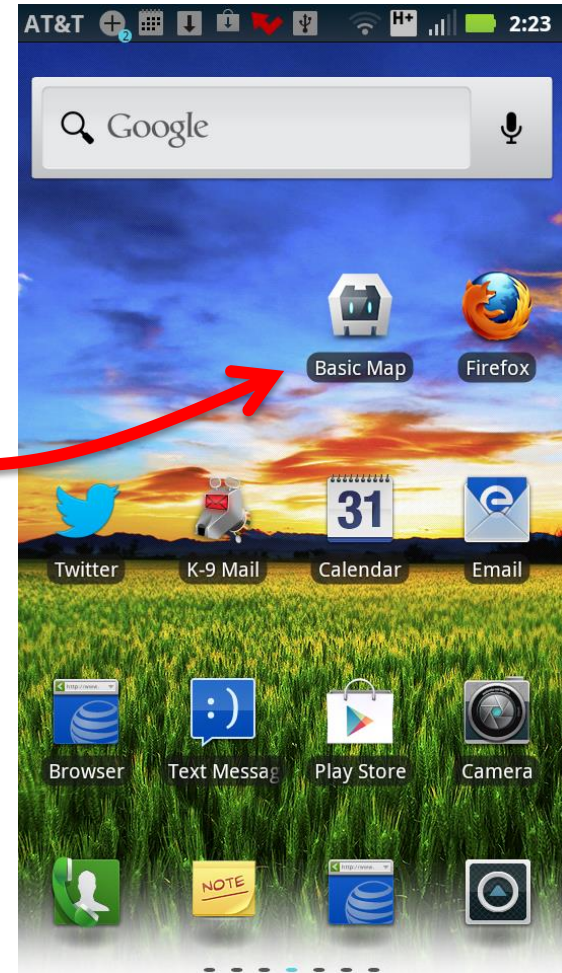

Appcelerator Titanium

Hybrid frameworks

01010110
10010100
01101010

PhoneGap/Cordova – Open Source

Wraps JavaScript in a native container

Use a chrome-less browser

Provide plug-in bridges between JS and native

Titanium SDK – Open Source

JavaScript interacts with Titanium API

UI Controls API - No HTML DOM manipulation

Can be extended with Modules

Xamarin (is a company)

Mono is open source .NET SDK

Proprietary C# libraries built on Mono:

- Xamarin.iOS (formerly MonoTouch)

- Xamarin.Android (formerly Mono for Android)

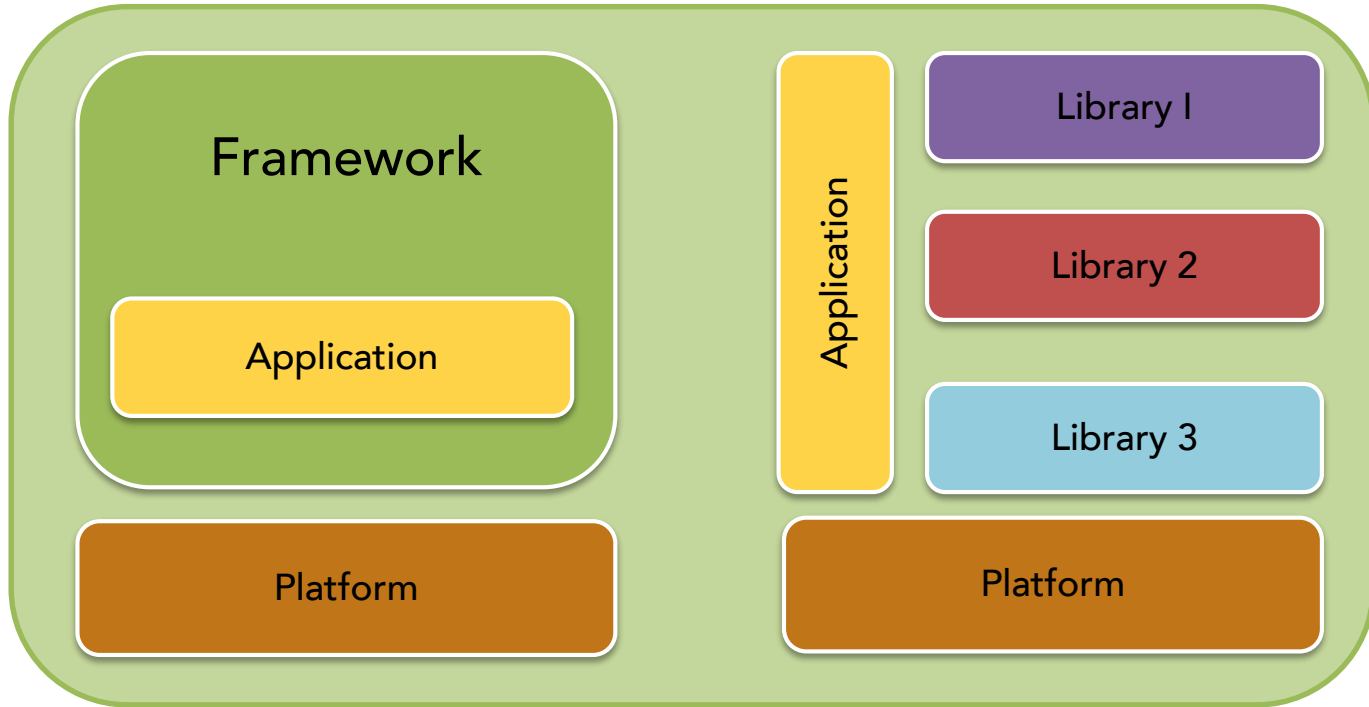

Write apps entirely in C#

Cross-compile to native
